fake google reviews

62 percent of customers claim to have spotted a fake Google review. The number is alarming in itself as it demonstrates the prevalence of fake Google reviews that possess the ability to tarnish a business's online reputation.

Irrespective of the nature of the reviews, fake google reviews are the ones that do the most harm. Since Google is a third-party site, businesses do not have the authority to take those fake reviews down, they need to appeal the fake reviews by following the reviewal process of Google.

88% of all reviews come from only the top four review sites. The top of which is Google.
